

Patient Care Pathway

Clinical Medical Assistant Program

HarperRand's Clinical Medical Assistant program provides training in:

- Anatomy & Physiology
- Medical Terminology
- Safety & First Aid
- Intermediate Algebra/Medical Math
- Medical Office Skills
- Clinical Procedures

CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

- Build your healthcare career foundation
- Gain experience with hands-on training in an externship at a local healthcare facility
- Earn your certificate

HEALTHCARE CAREER

- Enter the workforce shortly after high school as an important part of the medical community
- Medical assistants are trained to do a wide range of duties and are required to step in where they are needed most
- Average starting wage for a certified medical assistant in California is approximately $17.00 per hour

ASSOCIATE DEGREE

- Continue your education while you work
- Train for leadership and management roles in:
 - Respiratory Therapist
 - Licensed Vocational Nurse
 - Registered Nurse
 - Surgical Technologist
 - Diagnostic Medical Sonographer

BACHELOR'S DEGREE

- Prepare for career advancement and broader healthcare opportunities
- Become an integral part of leadership at physicians' offices and other healthcare organizations as a:
 - Nurse Practitioner
 - Physician Assistant
 - Radiologic Technologist
 - Clinical Laboratory Scientist
 - Bachelor of Science in Nursing

MEDICAL DEGREE

- Become a medical doctor and contribute to your community as a(n):
 - Anesthesiologist
 - Surgeon
 - Optometrist
 - Medical Researcher
 - Medical Doctor